I have set the LORD always before me. Because he is at my right hand, I will not be shaken.

Psalm 16:8

Lord, Help Me To Keep on Keeping On!

Life does not always deal us a favorable hand. Sometimes, there is illness, or we find ourselves unemployed, or death lays a cold and unwelcome hand upon our loved ones. Our faith does not fail, of course, but the going gets harder than it was. Unexpected reverses have a way of showing up at the most inopportune times; and occasionally we may be tempted to say within ourselves, "What's the use?"

No doubt such emotions come to all of us now and then; but the Lord will help us to keep on keeping on. The Christian life was never intended to be a long string of unlimited victories. The admonition for Christians in the sacred text says, "Having put on the WHOLE ARMOUR OF GOD, and having done all, to "STAND." We are not instructed to defeat all of our enemies, not even to solve all of our problems, but to "STAND." Ours is not a task of rounding up all of God's sheep and declaring war on the wolves. It all turns on the question of our ability "to stay in there" through thick and thin, through sorrows and wonderful joys, in sickness and in health, in poverty or affluence, in success or failure, in profit or loss.

He who called us into the Kingdom of His Son will complete the work which He began in us. Nothing is required of any of us that we cannot perform. But we should always remember that the promise is certified when life's probation is over, or when the Lord shall come, ever remembering that the Voice from Heaven is pleading with us, "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give unto thee the crown of life that fades not away." It is in this steadfast continuity that we shall win the prize.

Think of how it was with Jesus. Forsaken by His disciples, denied by the leader of the apostles, betrayed by one of them, rejected by the Chosen People, facing a cruel death on Calvary, our Holy Savior took every sorrow life could bring Him and hurled the eternal challenge in the face of all of it: "Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world." Of course this is precisely the ability every Christian so desperately needs. Where could there be a better source of such power for every one of us than in the Holy One who gave Himself up to death for us and loosed us from our sins in His blood?

In all of life's honors, give God the glory. "...for God resists the proud, and gives grace to the humble. (1Peter5: 5).

The best way for others to see Him in us is through our Walk. Understanding and applying His words to the best of our abilities glorifies the Father. "Let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven." (Matthew 5:16).

God will not look us over for medals, degrees, or diplomas, but for scars.

Full of Yourself

Take a moment and think with me of teams and individuals you admire and respect because they are champions, because they are successful. What do you admire the most?

For me, I admire those who are successful and don't have to tell the whole world how good they are. Their performance speaks louder than anything they could say verbally.

It's the businessman who is humble about his wealth and would rather give anonymously than to receive any credit.

It's the football player who scores the touchdown and tosses the ball to the ref, no dance, no pointing.

It's the basketball player who doesn't hang on the rim after a dunk, who doesn't have some type of fit every time he/she scores.

This world we live in encourages us to be self-promoters, to put down those around us and talk big about ourselves. However, God commands us to be humble and He will lift us up in due time.

So, if you feel you're getting full of yourself, stop, drop, and allow God to regain His rightful place in your life. Be full of Christ today!
